“Grants allow artists who have lived and worked in Chicago to actually stay in Chicago and continue making work.”

Ariel Zetina, 2023 DCASE Individual Artist Program Recipient

Dear Mayor Johnson,

We are a group of Chicago’s arts and culture leaders, writing on behalf of the creative sector in Chicago and Illinois to express our hopes for your support of the arts community in our city in the budget cycle. We understand that the current budget season poses significant challenges, and we commend your dedication to ensuring the well-being of our entire city, including the arts that you have described as the “soul of Chicago.”

There are 63,000 creative workers in Chicago. According to recent data from the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis, the arts and culture sector contributes over $2 billion annually to the city’s economy. We know that for every dollar spent on a cultural experience, patrons multiply that dollar’s impact across our city’s restaurants, bars, hotels, transportation infrastructure, and more. Public funding from the City is critical to continuing to fuel this work.

DCASE’s direct grantmaking programs serve as the primary driver of city support to the creative sector. DCASE’s direct grants through the Individual Artists Program have enabled many of our city’s most brilliant artists to pursue their careers and create groundbreaking new work - all while proudly wearing their support from the City of Chicago as a badge of honor. CityArts grants have enabled beloved community-rooted arts and cultural organizations to maintain crucial programming and keep their doors open. 1,061 of these creative sector leaders have signed on to this letter.

These grantmaking dollars are felt in our theaters, our galleries, and our studios, but are also felt in our shared work—and your key priorities—of violence prevention, education, public health, and community building.

The city’s previous 36% decrease ($13.4 million to $8.5 million) in direct grant dollars to our sector in FY24 is challenging for an already fragile ecosystem. Given that this is a particularly challenging budget year, we understand restoring those dollars is likely not possible at this time, but we urge you to prioritize a healthy budget for the arts sector in Chicago by maintaining existing funding levels for direct grantmaking through the Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events. By allocating important resources to support arts organizations, artists, and cultural initiatives, you can advance the vibrancy and resilience of our creative community.

We believe that investing in the arts is an investment in the future of Chicago. Your continued support is crucial in sustaining the cultural vitality and economic prosperity of our city.

Thank you for your attention to this important issue for our city. We appreciate our ongoing partnership with DCASE and we look forward to working together to ensure a thriving arts sector in Chicago.

Thank you for your consideration,

(This letter is signed by the following creative sector organizations, cultural leaders, and individuals):
